Dedication

To two of our helpful and understanding teachers who have rendered every service possible to uphold the spirit of Stanley High School; to two who have worked without ceasing for our educational improvement; to two who encouraged and guided us in all our undertakings; who have taught us willingly, faithfully, and with fullest capacity, we, the Senior Class of 1959, proudly dedicate this edition of "THE ROUND-HEAD" to our very own---

Mrs. Lucile W. Claggett
and Mrs. Lucie Glenn

"WE ENTERED TO LEARN,
WE GO FORWARD TO SERVE."

Class History

This, the year nineteen hundred and fifty-nine, will always be a most memorable one in our lives because we are graduating from high school. There were days - days of endless toil - when the future looked dim, but now that the ultimate has been realized, we know that it was well worthwhile.

Beginning our first year in high school our enrollment totaled 41 students. We were placed in the capable hands of Mrs. Jean Ballard and Mr. Robert Anderson, upon whose shoulders rested the responsibility of guiding us through our Freshman year.

Upon our promotion to the Sophomore Class, our very able sponsors were Mrs. Elizabeth Huffman and Mrs. Helen Smith. Under their leadership we were directed closer to our goal. We lost ten members of our class this year for various reasons, one of which was matrimony.

Mrs. Diana Graves, our wise guide and counselor, took us through the paces of our Junior year. We were fortunate in gaining several students from other schools, thereby increasing our enrollment to thirty-three. Our calendar of events included a three-act play, "Girls Are Like That," and an Amateur Contest, both of which were very successful. Two very exciting things occurred during our third year in high school: our tour of Washington, D. C., and the arrival of our class rings. The highlight of our Junior Year was the time at which it became our privilege to entertain the Seniors of 1958. We gave a formal Junior-Senior Prom which was held May 10, at Hawksbill Recreation Park. This gala event climaxed our Junior year.

Now we have reached our goal and have become Seniors, with an enrollment of twenty-nine students. This year Miss Betty J. Sherry, a very understanding and capable sponsor, had the responsibility of guiding and instructing our paths throughout our last year at Stanley High.

Both our class and sponsor worked hard during the year raising money for the two biggest events in our Senior year - the tour of New York in May and the presentation of our 1959 year-book, "THE ROUNDHEAD." Many hours of work and planning were spent on our fund-raising projects. Some were: a Beauty Pageant, a Senior Play, several food sales, car washes, the sale of Christmas cards, and a turkey raffle.

As our days at Stanley High progressed, we suddenly found ourselves in the midst of the long-awaited thrill of our lifetime, commencement. This is a time in our lives when we find ourselves the victims of mixed emotions - joy mingled with tears. Our last few hours were generally very exciting ones, for each of us was trying to determine what his future role in life would be. As we venture forth from this, our alma mater, we shall curiously and eagerly look toward the future, but at the same time we shall take some of our past with us in memories. These memories, good and bad, which we acquired while a part of Stanley High will ever be cherished and remembered.

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1959, being of a sound and generous state of mind, hereby, as we consider our distinguished talents and cherished possessions, bequeath them upon the faculty and future senior classes, trusting that they will be highly treasured by the fortunate recipients.

To the faculty we bequeath our books, our old term papers, our quizzes, our excuses, our A's, our B's, our C's, our _____ in fact, all that we hold dear to our hearts.

To the Juniors, we bequeath room 21, equipped with leaky radiators, tinfoil mirror, all the desk space and desk drawers that easily open, closet doors without handles and windows propped open by books, yard sticks and most anything handy at the time.

To the Sophomores, we bequeath our books, notes, outlines, and research papers which will bring you through with flying colors.

To the Freshmen, we bequeath our courage and strength to get you through the next four years. There's a long, rough road ahead, but the reward is great.

I, Eddie Blakemore, bequeath my careful driving habits to Kenny Purdham. By the way, Kenny, how high can you get in second gear?

I, Larry Blevins, bequeath my nickname "Fuzzy" to anyone who hates to shave as much as I do.

I, Leola Cave, bequeath my big mouth and ability to pay attention in class to John Belton, who really doesn't need them.

I, Jeanie Comer, bequeath my blond curly hair to Robbie Bauserman.

I, Winnie Cabbage, bequeath my dimples and well-known giggling habit to Judy Hilliard.

I, Wayne Ettare, bequeath my quiet manner to Denzle Reed.

I, Betty Good, bequeath my bashful ways for someone else to worry about.

I, Joyce Good, having been quiet all through school, do not wish to bequeath said ability to any unlucky person.

I, Frances Gray, bequeath my ability to read magazines in class to anyone interested in Disneyland.

I, Katherine Gray, bequeath my affection to Kenny Dovel.

I, Ronnie Gray, bequeath my old Chemistry book to someone else to carry around.

I, Delores Hackley, bequeath my interest in Chevrolets with improper mufflers to anyone interested in traffic tickets.

I, Barbara Jenkins, bequeath my many pounds of overweight to Mr. Rothgeb.

I, Betty Kibler, bequeath my short brown hair and quick temper to Judy Good.

I, Barbara Long, bequeath my ability to get laryngitis to Miss Sherry. Give the kids a break, Miss Sherry.

I, Yvonne Long, bequeath my old saxophone reeds to Danny Price. Put two together and make you one, "Squire."

I, Becky Louderback, bequeath my red hair to anyone who can control the temper that goes with it.

I, Judy Purdham, bequeath my ability to hunt "Foxes" to Sandra Aleshire.

I, Nancy Sabala, bequeath my old Ford to anyone unfortunate enough to get it.

I, Junior Short, bequeath my bachelor ways (winking, smiling, HORSE LAUGHING) to Shirley Atwood.

I, Judy Stallard, bequeath my ability to make the grade to my brother Roger.

I, Margie Stillwell, bequeath my good grades and studious ways to Lois Cave.

I, Myrtle Taylor, bequeath my long curly hair to Jimmy Ettare, who really doesn't need it.

I, June Turner, bequeath my ability to giggle all the time, especially the wrong time, to Lois Alger.

I, Donnie Weakley, bequeath the exhaust extension on my souped-up Chevy to anyone who can take it off.

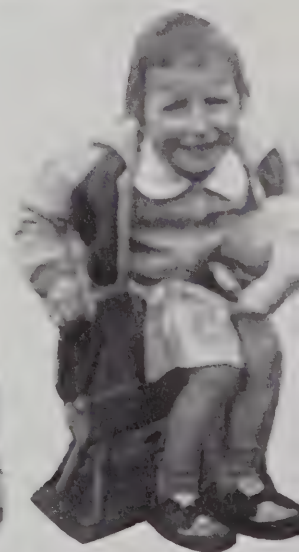

I, Gloria Weakley, bequeath my interest in one of Uncle Sam's nephews to anyone who thinks she can get him.

I, Frances Weaver, bequeath my ability to talk a mile a minute to my sister Nancy. Please Nancy, at least stop long enough to grab a good breath!

I, Joyce Yager, bequeath my blond hair and pleasing smile to Judy Huffman.

I, Tommy Young, bequeath my thick black hair to Mr. Stowell.

Class Prophecy

As the sun sinks slowly in the west, our boat nears the tropical island of Worromot, a lost paradise in the middle of the Ecalpemos Sea.

Walking down the gangplank we hear soft swaying music played by an Hawaiian Band. We are greeted by a dancer in a grass skirt. Why, she looks familiar. Yes, it's our former classmate, MRYTLE TAYLOR. She always did go for entertainers!

In the crowd of passengers we see FRANCES GRAY, JOYCE GOOD, BETTY GOOD, and WINNIE CUBBAGE. They are world travelers now. Winnie and Frances have just returned from France where they completed their new recipes for Snails A-La-Mode and French-fried Canary Legs. Joyce and Betty just returned from their trip to Africa where they tried to sell Toni kits. The trip was unsuccessful because few sales were made.

After leaving our friends we hail a cab. When it pulls up to the curb we get a good view of the driver. We find it is EDDIE BLAKEMORE; he always liked cars.

We tell the cab driver to take us to the best supermarket in town. It is the J & L. Checking, we see YVONNE LONG and JEANNIE COMER. Now, we see why they spent a lot of time in the A & P.

Next, our cab takes us to a dress shop. The owner is JUDY PURDHAM Fox. Designing the dresses is JOYCE YAGER, our artistic senior.

On most tropical islands you find coconut groves, but on this island is a Pine Grove. Naturally, BARBARA JENKINS owns a service station there. Her boyfriend will never run out of gas now. Pulling into the station is KATHERINE GRAY Dovel in a new Draf Station Wagon. The big car is needed to seat their ten children.

Our next stop is at an Eraser factory where we are greeted by BARBARA LONG, the owner. Coincidentally, what should there be next door but a pencil factory operated by, you guessed it, that pencil magnate himself, P. B. (Pencil Borrower) ETTARE.

As we are leaving the factory we see LEOLA CAVE Shuler going to a baseball game to see her nine boys, the "Shuler Sluggers," take their places at bat. DONNIE WEAKLEY, another former classmate, is the umpire. We are surprised to see him on Worromot, but after he and his bride spent their honeymoon here and liked it so well they decided to stay.

On our trip around Worromot, we stop at a rodeo. We are in time - the show is just beginning. In the middle of the arena is the star, JUNIOR SHORT, on his galloping palimino, "Reggirt." As the show progresses, a concession boy comes in view. It's JAMES GRAY; he is selling chewing gum now, not giving it away.

After the rodeo we wander through the town. We spot a mammoth sign atop a factory. It reads "Campbells Soup." The cab driver tells us it is owned by DELORES HACKLEY and BECKY LOUDERBACK.

We decide to visit the Worromot High School. Strolling through the halls we run into two Math professors, BETTY KIBLER and FRANCES WEAVER. In S. H. S. they were the top math students. Wait! We hear music. It's the band directed by our musical senior, LARRY BLEVINS.

Now we decide to do some shopping. As we enter the store we see an old friend, GLORIA WEAKLEY. She tells us that her husband manufactures Bobby pins. She'll have enough to roll her hair now. Behind the counter stands a sales girl, giggling. It sounds familiar. Could it be? Yes, it's JUNE TURNER.

Out on the sidewalk again, we overhear NANCY SABALA Short and MARGIE STILLWELL, our two inseperable seniors, talking about the newly elected mayor, TOMMY YOUNG.

It's getting dark and the street lights haven't come on yet. Down the street farther we see the electrician up on a pole fixing the wires. Below stands his wife, JUDY STALLARD Atkins, and all their little live wires.

The time soon arrives when we must say "Ahola" to the garden of paradise and once again set sail for home, Yadot, where we may remember with pleasure our visit with our former classmates of S. H. S.

A black and white photograph featuring a jewelry box, a pearl necklace, and a bouquet of flowers. The jewelry box is open, revealing a multi-strand pearl necklace with large pearls. The box is white with black text that reads "JUNIOR SENIOR" and "PROM". The box is placed on a dark, draped fabric. A bouquet of flowers is visible in the lower left corner.

Dear Guy,

I thought I might as well sign this while I had it,
as no year book is complete without being autographed. I can't write about all the wonderful trips, James, Gayana parties and etc. that we have had, since we didn't get to share this year with each other. All that can be said is —
As you look through this book, think of all the good times we've had and remember me as your Buddy at S.H.S.

Love You,
